

STARTS TODAY — A NEW CHAMPION PICTURE STORY ADVENTURE WITH CANADA'S CHAMPION AXEMAN.

BROADAXE

JIM JANNOCK, champion axeman of Canada, got his nickname of Broadaxe from the special wide blade he used. Broadaxe liked to move around the country. When he walked into Benson's Logging Camp the lumberjacks were having a contest each trying to fell a tree to hit a marker peg.

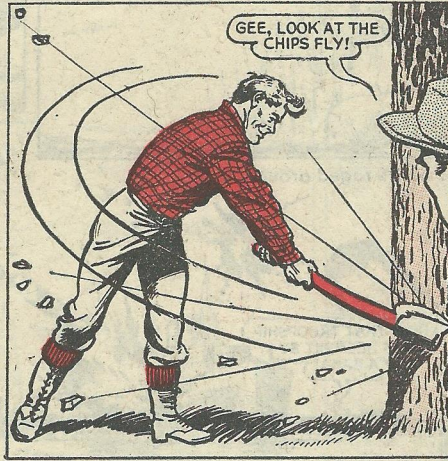

IS THIS A PRIVATE CONTEST, OR CAN ANYONE JOIN IN?

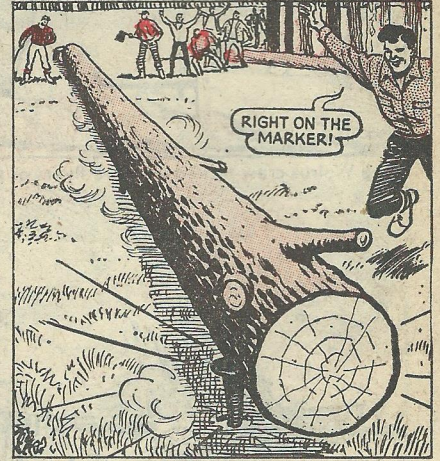

SURE, YOU CAN HAVE A GO, MISTER, BUT YOU'LL NEVER BEAT BULL LAROCHE, HERE—HE'S OUR BEST AXEMAN.

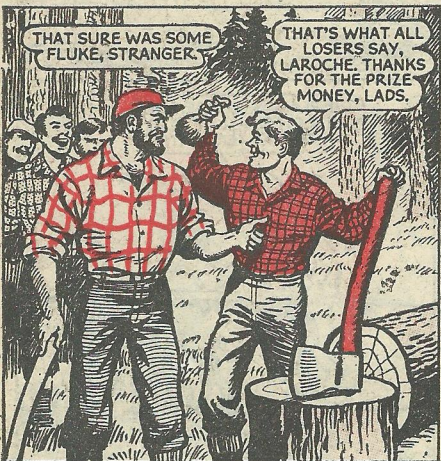

BEAT THAT IF YOU CAN!

GEE, LOOK AT THE CHIPS FLY!

RIGHT ON THE MARKER!

THAT SURE WAS SOME FLUKE, STRANGER.

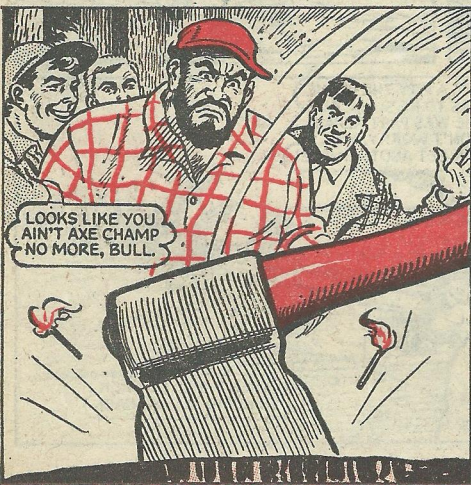

THAT'S WHAT ALL LOSERS SAY, LAROCHE. THANKS FOR THE PRIZE MONEY, LADS.

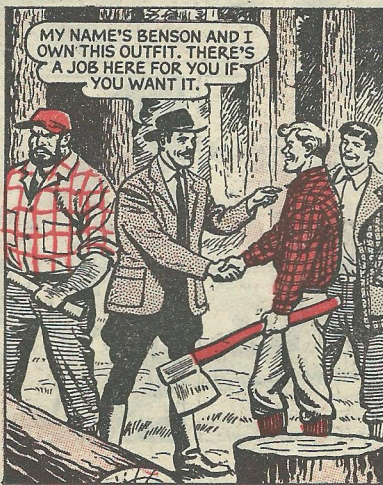

SO YOU THINK YOU'RE GOOD, EH? WELL, WATCH THIS CIGARETTE!

NOT BAD, BUT IT'S EVEN TRICKIER WITH A MATCH.

LOOKS LIKE YOU AIN'T AXE CHAMP NO MORE, BULL.

MY NAME'S BENSON AND I OWN THIS OUTFIT. THERE'S A JOB HERE FOR YOU IF YOU WANT IT.

Next day.

YOU'LL START CLEARING TIMBER IN BLIND CANYON, BROADAXE.

RIGHT, BOSS.
