

The money raised going to a good cause in helping to relieve me of the stress and pain of fighting in the Great War.

It was suggested to me that I could do charity work. And why not? Using my listening abilities to make money. The charity I chose was myself. After all they say that charity begins at home.

It was around this time that a new face appeared in Yorkton. Minty. The crime boss. Nasty piece of work, he is. Told you that myself Many a time. Look out for Minty. Wish I had taken my own advice now.

It was also around this time that we first met. Profitable for both of us really. You got the information and I got a regular income.