

Bradley deliberately crashes the car he is driving—and it could save dozens of lives!

5

KILL OR DIE!

Corporal Jim Bradley had been captured by the Germans on the Normandy battlefield during World War II and injected with a slow-acting poison. He was told that if he killed some Allied commanders, the Germans would give him the only antidote, but he had been able to get some antidote phials himself, only to discover that other men had been poisoned as well. Among them was Pierre Larosse, a French Resistance leader, who had sent his men into an enemy ambush!

